

Conference Privacy Policy

Australia operates under the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth), as amended, and the Privacy Amendment (Notifiable Data Breaches), 2017. The objective of these is to protect the right of the individual to privacy of their information.

Europe operates under the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) (Regulation (EU) 2016/679), a regulation in EU law on data protection and privacy for all individuals within the European Union. The GDPR aims primarily to give protection to citizens over their personal data. The legislation was adopted on 27 April 2016.

The Professional Conference Organisers (The Association Specialists) comply with these legislations and are committed to protect the right of the individual to privacy of their information.

The Association Specialists will not sell your personal information to third parties. If you believe that any information we are holding on you is incorrect or incomplete, please email us and we will promptly correct the information. You may also withdraw your consent for use of your information by advice to us in writing.

Why do we wish you to provide your information?

We require your information to facilitate provision of information to you regarding the conference and to facilitate your participation in the conference. Information collected in respect of your proposed participation in any aspect of the conference will be used for the purposes listed below. You can give or withhold your consent for each or all of these uses. Please indicate your preferences when completing your registration form but please note that we will be unable to forward any information relating to the conference or to communicate with you regarding your registration if you select 'no' to point 1.

What we will do with your information?

1. Planning and conduct of the conference including arrangements for your participation (e.g., accommodation booking);
2. In the Delegate List published for the conference;
3. May also be provided to organisers of future occurrences of this conference;
4. May be used to provide you with information of other relevant events in your area of interest.

Important Notes:

- The parties who will have access to your information (subject to your preference selections on above points) are the Professional Conference Organisers, the conference host organisation (points 1 and point 4), delegates (point 2) and any future organisers of the conference (point 3).

The parties mentioned above will rely on your above consent indications for the purposes of compliance.

- You may withdraw your granular consent at any time by notice in writing to the Professional Conference Organisers
- You are entitled to access the information held by written application to the Professional Conference Organisers

For further information, please see our detailed corporate Privacy Statement.